

CHEMTRAIL CENTRAL

- Chemtrail Central
- Login
- Member List
- Image Database
- Chemtrail Forum
- Active Topics
- Who's Online
- Search

- Research
- Flight Explorer
- Unidentifiable
- FAQs
- Phenomena
- Disinformation
- Silver Orbs
- Transcripts
- News Archive
- Channelings
- Etcetera
- PSAs
- Media
- Vote

Search FAQs Messages Members Profile

"About Jay Reynolds"

NEW TOPIC POST REPLY

Chemtrail Central > Freeform

| Author                                       | Thread                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Tracker                               | "About Jay Reynolds"  Tue Feb 21, 2006 4:55 am  quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Joined: 21 Feb 2006Posts: 29 | "About Jay Reynolds" The following information herein may be freely reproduced without permission or restrictions, it was compiled from the written words of one John J. Reynolds, better known as "Jay Reynolds" and a background search using the "Intelius" search service http://find.intelius.com/ All of the information in this report is as it was found and not altered in any way by this writer / researcher. I did this research on John J. Reynolds because he has become infamously known as the "Internet stalker" of anyone who voices or writes their opinion on what is considered to be conspiracy oriented issues such as with the subject of "Chemtrail's". Reynolds constant personal attacks and unwanted, unwelcome and unnecessary intrusion into other peoples lives because of what they perceive to be true events taking place in our environment that they are concerned about has been well documented on many websites, discussion boards and forums to ad' nauseum. It is Because of Reynolds vile and abusive personal charter assassination of people who would disagree with his twisted and narrow-minded Right Wing view of reality that I ultimately decided to research him and give him a good dose of exactly what he has been doing to other people now for a good number of years, but do so in a manner that would be truthful and honest, I wanted to prove to the world just what a pathological and egotistical liar this individual has been, is and no doubt will continue to be as he trolls the internet in search of his next victim which would be anyone who appears to be honestly, legitimately researching and writing about the subject of "Chemtrail's / The illegal spraying of unknown substances into our atmosphere by our Government[s]". Anyone who takes the time to read this information that I have compiled and presented can only come to one conclusion with regard to John J. Reynolds and that is that he is absolutely no one to be trusted, nothing that this man writes should be taken as truth as he has lied over and over again, even with regard to his own life. My research into Reynolds started when I accidentally found a posting that he had made on the internet dated 3/1/03 with regard to the what he did |

after graduating, work, moving to Arkansas, etc,...something about that posting caught my attention and did not ring true for some reason, so, I saved the posting and almost two years later I started looking into as much information as I could find on Reynolds, including the "About Jay Reynolds" information that I had save from 2002 which he posted on his "Chemtrail" debunking website
<http://www.goodsky.homestead.com/files/aboutjay.html>

*****

Found on the internet:

<http://www.tamug.edu/Develop/wherenowr.htm>
Jay Reynolds '77

3/01/03

"After graduation, I spent 2 years with GE in Houston servicing gas and steam turbines. Moved to St. Croix, USVI, in 1979 and worked as gas turbine engineer at the Hess refinery for five years.

A few years more as Port Engineer for General Offshore there, and started farming, too!

Got married to my lovely wife, Karen, in STX and had our first child. We moved to Arkansas in 1992 and live on a farm there. We have two children now.

I sort of thought they shut the school down after what the class of '77 did, but if anyone wants, I'd like to hear from ya'll.

Email: reality2u30@hotmail.com

*****

John J. Reynolds was born August 19, 1955 and at the present time resides in the state of Arkansas near the town of Calico Rock in the county of Izard with his wife Karen and their two children Jessica and Jeremy.

*****

Taken from the website of John J.Reynolds - A.k.a. / Jay Reynolds / J. Reynolds / Uncle Jay Jay / Jay Jay.
<http://www.goodsky.homestead.com/files/aboutjay.html>

Reynolds claims in his old [2002] personal information posted at his website that he worked for an "unnamed company / Offshore Corporation, which did subcontracting work for the DOD and performed quality control testing of U.S. Navy [ASW] antisubmarine detection devices." / Subsequently upon questioning, this "DOD" information disappeared from his website, I WONDER WHY ?

Other conflicts with regard to truth after some cross-checking appear in this personal information posted by Reynolds in his Chemtrail Debunking site such as "in 1977 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Marine Engineering from Texas A&M University at Galveston . During that time, he was able to "travel worldwide and qualified to become a Third Assistant Ship's Engineer." This conflicts with his statement made in the internet post on 3/1/03 that "He spent 2 years with GE in Houston servicing gas and steam turbines, then Moved to St. Croix, USVI, in 1979." / How could he work two years with GE in Houston servicing gas and steam turbines, yet be able to travel worldwide and qualified to become a Third Assistant Ship's Engineer and then move to St. Croix in 1979 ? / that does not ring true at all, there seems to be a good degree of self embellishment going on here with regard to his accomplishments in such a short period of time.

Reynolds claims to be an expert in the fields of engineering ,power generation and marine propulsion systems, also oceanography, meteorology, and navigation and he is an accomplished sailor, spear-fisherman and He also traveled widely in Central America and speaks fluent Spanish.

My word, all of this in only two[2] years, when did this "SUPERMAN" find the time to apprentice in all of those engineering fields that he claims to be qualified in plus meteorology and navigation and find the time to travel all over the Central America and the world, I think most of us realize that it takes years to attain even modest positions in the fields of engineering but for some reason Reynolds would have us believe that he achieved all of this status and experience of a seasoned engineer in less time that it takes to serve a reasonable apprenticeship, obviously there are a great number of real engineers who at reading this are no doubt laughing or shaking their heads in disgust at such self-serving egotistical bologna.

More information on this Reynolds goes on to show that his engineering career was quite short lived in spite of the alleged Bachelor of Science degree in Marine Engineering, one would think any person that goes as far as achieving such a degree would want to spend more that a total of seven [7] years actually working in that respective field, Oh, yes, and a few more years as he puts it, "As a Port Engineer for General Offshore Corporation, which did subcontracting work for the DOD and performed quality control testing of U.S. Navy antisubmarine detection devices.

Note that he is careful not state what General Offshore Corporation that was by name or how exactly many years he worked as a Port Engineer for said General Offshore Corporation doing DOD subcontracting work while at this same time he also became a FARMER or was that perhaps a SPOOK / Agent / misinformation specialist for the DOD ?

Even if Reynolds did actually spend a twelve[12] year period of time as he claims that he did offshore working in various engineering capacities, twelve[12] years by any standard is a short lived engineering career and would not equate to any viable form of retirement for him, so are we to believe that he just gave up his high paying career as a big time engineer to play in the dirt and grow onions in Arkansas, or did he get a better job offer from Uncle Sam along the way ?

Reynolds makes the claim in his personal information that,

"Upon returning from 12 years offshore, Jay was astonished at the changes he found in his nation. The loss of American rights, the submersion of sovereignty, lowering of educational achievement, and the decline of America's preeminence in manufacturing were especially troubling. Seeking answers and solutions, he allied with William Cooper, a great American who has been documenting these changes and their possible outcomes. Jay's research has helped in the production of a newspaper, VERITAS, the Harvest-Trust website, and Mr. Cooper's nightly

|  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  | broadcast "The Hour of the Time". To fully understand this statement one has to understand just who "William Cooper" was and what he did to be held in such high esteem by Reynolds that he would, as he puts it, "allied with William Cooper" and contributed research material to Cooper's own particular wide ranging theories of a conspiracy nature. Links to William Cooper : http://www.hourofthetime.com/biography.html http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/William_Cooper_(radio_host) William Cooper was by anyone's standard the ultimate personification and definition of a conspiracy theorist to the extreme, to state it mildly. President Clinton was quoted as saying that William Cooper was, "...the most dangerous radio host in America". Cooper was later quoted as saying Clinton's pronouncement was "the greatest compliment that he has ever received." William Cooper produced several documentaries, wrote and lectured on subjects such as the John F. Kennedy assassination, government 'black projects', UFO's, MJ-12, AIDS being genetically engineered to cull large percentages of the population and other controversial conspiracy subjects such as these. Cooper was killed by the Apache County ,Arizona Sheriff's Department during a raid on his home on November 5, 2001. Why would someone like Reynolds, a man who is so vehemently opposes to conspiracy theories, especially those concerning "Chemtrail's / the illegal Aerosol Spraying of our atmosphere by our Government", claim to have allied himself with a person like William Cooper who was himself so immersed in the conspiracy culture ? These two men, Jay Reynolds and William Cooper were so very different in so many way's, almost direct opposites in the way they viewed and wrote with regard to conspiracies theories, Will Cooper lived for the conspiracy and Jay Reynolds opposes and debunks conspiracy's as if rabid. When comparing Cooper's work to that of Reynolds [ no comparison really ] it's easy to see that their work is as far apart as two people can get, William Cooper authored over 20 books and put fourth many conspiracy related subjects while Reynolds is known worldwide for his very adamant and obnoxious debunking of conspiracy theories, so why does Reynolds in his website personal information portray himself as worked so closely with William Cooper, this statement does not make the slightest bit of sense given the reality and quantity of the debunking that Reynolds does on a regular basis as though it's a full time job rather than him just voicing his opinion on conspiracy subjects such as "Chemtrail's / Global Spraying". One has to wonder in reading William Cooper's history and the fact that he was an avid writer, author of at least 20 books and countless articles, involved in making film documentaries as well as being a radio talk show personality, yet in all of the material that I have researched on William Cooper I never found one reference by Mr. Cooper to working with Jay Reynolds, one has to wonder if they even knew each other. |
|--|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

Obviously Reynolds did not "Alley" himself with William Cooper on this issue of Chemtrail's / Global Spraying as Reynolds has and continues to date to do everything that he can to challenge and personally attack anyone who speaks to the pro-Chemtrail / Global Spraying side of the issue, thus I believe Reynolds motive for doing so are highly in question, let alone his claim of allying with William Cooper in any manner.

*****

Original personal information posted by John J. Reynolds at,..<http://www.goodsky.homestead.com/files/aboutjay.html>

- Jay Reynolds was born in Dallas, Texas during the summer of 1955, and spent his childhood there. During that time, he developed a love of reading and observation. From an early age, he worked in the family business building municipal water systems and industrial buildings, and a working knowledge of many trades. His parents instilled in him a strong work ethic and moral values, and he became fluent in the Spanish language.

He attended the Texas Maritime Academy of Texas A&M University at Galveston, TX, graduating in 1977 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Marine Engineering. During that time, he was able to travel worldwide and qualified to become a Third Assistant Ship's Engineer, Steam/Diesel, Unlimited Horsepower.
His studies at the University included all engineering disciplines, with heavy emphasis on power generation and marine propulsion systems, and also oceanography, meteorology, and navigation.

After graduation, he received further training and became a Field Service Engineer for the General Electric Corporation, working on the Texas gulf coast providing technical direction in both construction and maintenance of large steam and gas turbines and shipboard engines. He also traveled widely in Central America. In 1979, seeking further opportunity, he moved to the island of St. Croix, U.S. Virgin Islands, and joined the Hess Oil Virgin Islands Corporation, where he was employed as a Gas Turbine Engineer and supervised maintenance of nine gas turbine power generators with waste heat recovery boilers at one of the world's largest oil refineries.

On St. Croix, and in subsequent travels around the Caribbean, he became an accomplished diver, spearfisherman, and sailor, and immersed himself in West Indian culture. Eventually, a home garden grew to become a full-time enterprise which was called "Blue Chips Farm", a farm which produced organically grown tropical fruits and vegetables. This operation, with the able assistance of his beautiful wife, Karen, was expanded when he developed a cannery operation to create gourmet quality preserves and sauces, which were marketed to the tourist trade. Blue Chips consistently won prizes at local fairs and their products were sold throughout the islands and by mail-order.

In 1989, Blue Chips was featured in Organic Gardening magazine for it's innovative system of alternating crop beds with permanent mulch generating strips thus supplying organic matter, mulch, reducing erosion, and slowing evapotranspiration. During off seasons, Jay continued his engineering work off the farm as Port Engineer for General Offshore Corporation, which did subcontracting work for the DOD and performed quality control testing of U.S. Navy antisubmarine detection devices.

On September 19, 1989, St.Croix was devastated by Hurricane Hugo, a powerful category 5 hurricane that completely devastated the island. The damage was further accomplished by widespread looting in the aftermath. After total destruction of the farm and the island's economy, Jay was asked to return to the Hess Oil refinery during their rebuilding, this time working as Fired Boiler Supervising Engineer, where he continued for the next two years.

In 1992, the Reynolds repatriated to the United States mainland and purchased property to begin development of a self-sufficient homestead in the midwest. They have restored a 120 year old log cabin and built barns and outbuildings. Current efforts are nearing completion of a super-insulated Victorian style home built using native stone and the slip-form method. Soil is being built up using large amounts of organic matter and legume crops, and orchard trees have been planted. Their family now includes two children, some small animals, and a secure location to live, with timber, bottomland, a creek, and a free-flowing spring.

Upon returning from 12 years offshore, Jay was astonished at the changes he found in his nation. The loss of American rights, the submersion of sovereignty, lowering of educational achievement, and the decline of America's preeminence in manufacturing were especially troubling. Seeking answers and solutions, he allied with William Cooper, a great American who has been documenting these changes and their possible outcomes. Jay's research has helped in the production of a newspaper, VERITAS, the Harvest-Trust website, and Mr. Cooper's nightly broadcast "The Hour of the Time". His writing has been featured on several websites and newspapers, and he hopes to provide the best information possible, fully documented and verifiable by any reader. He is willing to listen to all viewpoints and strives to establish reality based on factual information and logical analysis. His work has been completely without remuneration and is for the benefit of all.

*****

John J. Reynolds mother Orleanne Goodwin Reynolds, 77, passed away Saturday, Jan. 21, 2006, in a San Angelo nursing home following a brief illness.

To view her Obituary and more about the Reynolds family history go to,.....

<http://obituaries.sastandardtimes.com/obit.cfm?ID=6115>

*****

The criminal portion of the "Intelius" background search revealed three items that really stand out, in 1992 according to Reynolds, he moved from St. Croix in the Virgin Islands to his so called farm in Arkansas, starting in 1993, Arkansas court records show that a John Reynolds was arrested for the manufacture and or possession of a controlled substance, the case was nol-processed on 10/21/1993.

Another case involving a John Reynolds for manufacture and or possession of a controlled substance was brought before an Arkansas court on 10/20/1993 and Reynolds plead guilty to the charge and was found guilty by the court, no other information is available as to the disposition of this case, i.e. fine, probation or incarceration.

There is a finding by the court after Reynolds being found guilty of manufacture and or possession of a controlled substance on 10/20/1993 and this court action took place on 02/22/1996, it was a revocation of probation which stemmed from the 1993 conviction for possession of a controlled substance. [ No other information was available ]

It would seem that Reynolds has an ongoing illegal substance abuse problem according to Arkansas court records, that said, "Intelius" does include a disclaimer with all of their background checks for legal purposes but one can only assume with so much of the "Intelius" background search information on John Reynolds being correct and the fact that prior to 1993 no court records were found pertaining to criminal behavior by any John Reynolds in the entire state of Arkansas, criminal records only start for a John Reynolds in the state of Arkansas after 1992, after Reynolds moved there, just a coincidence ?

The fact that Reynolds moved to Arkansas in 1992 and criminal records started on one John Reynolds only in 1993 speaks for itself, More compelling is the fact that Reynolds lives near Calico Arkansas which is in IZARD County, IZARD County is bordered to the south east by Independence County and to the south west by Stone County. [ Appropriate given the charges.] Independence and Stone Counties being were Reynolds was charged with the drug related crimes.

It should be noted that Reynolds was born on August 19, 1955 and that would have made him thirty eight years old in 1993 when the drug charges were brought against him and subsequently he would have been forty years old in 1996 when the Court for some illegal activity on Reynolds part revoked his probation stemming from the 1993 drug conviction in Stone County.

Arkansas Court records for "John Reynolds" found through "Intelius".

<http://find.intelius.com/>

CRIMINAL CHECK

Criminal Check Disclaimer

Customers are charged a search fee for executing a Criminal Check. The Criminal Check report returns results which may include all criminal records or no results found on the individual.

In the event of using this service for criminal background checks, you should not assume that this data provides a complete or accurate history of any person's criminal history.

You should use extreme caution when interpreting the results of a criminal background search for any type of personal verification.

Positive or false matches in criminal searches may not provide confirmation of an individual's criminal background.

Criminal Check for all John Reynolds in the state of AR

Record 1

Identification

Name: JOHN REYNOLDS

Source: Arkansas

Sex: MALE

Race: WHITE

Offense

Court Name INDEPENDENCE

Case Number: 261

Offense ID AR_AOC2300562

Offense Code 5644011FC

Offense MANU,ETC CONTRL SUB SCH IV,V < 200 GMS

Disposition Date 10/21/1993

Original Plea NOT GUILTY

Verdict Finding NOT PROCESSED

Record 2

Identification

Name: JOHN REYNOLDS

Source: Arkansas

Sex: MALE

Race: WHITE

Offense

Court Name STONE

Case Number: 46

Offense ID AR_AOC5682922

Offense Code 5644011FC

Offense MANU,ETC CONTRL SUB SCH IV,V < 200 GMS

Disposition Date 10/20/1993

Original Plea GUILTY

Verdict Finding CONVICTED

Record 3

Identification

Name: JOHN REYNOLDS

Source: Arkansas

Offense

|                          |                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                          |                                                                                          | Court Name STONE Case Number: 46 Offense ID AR_AOC5682932 Offense Code 991PU Offense PROBATION REVOCATION Disposition Date 02/22/1996 Original Plea GUILTY Verdict Finding CONVICTED ----- Tracker                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|                          |                                                                                          |  profile                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Tracker       | Joined: 21 Feb 2006 Posts: 29                                      | Reynolds is poison.  Thu Feb 23, 2006 5:41 am  quoteAs I now see that the research that I did on John J. Reynolds is having an effect worldwide on the global internet, I would like to state that after having some twenty two years in working in the law enforcement community, this research I did on Reynolds is I feel 99% accurate and I stand behind my findings on this individual, he is poison.And just for the record, this chemtrail or spraying, whichever you want to call it, it's very real and people better wake up to what's going on around them before it's to late, your government is lying to you, believe me, I know.As long as the government is being controlled by the ultra-conservatives and industry giants your all in great danger of becoming extinct, the only way to stop them is to make sure they do not run government, it's up to you all but you better take control now or it will be to late very soon.Enough of that, I am not a politician.-----Tracker |
|                          |                                                                                          |  profile                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Thermit       | Joined: 08 Jul 2000 Posts: 3137 Location: Texas         |  Thu Feb 23, 2006 5:59 am  quoteAnybody remember AMAROLI? LOL...http://chemtrailcentral.com/forum/thread937.html                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                          |                                                                                          |  profile  home                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| increase 1776 | Joined: 07 Oct 2000 Posts: 3097 Location: Bizzaro World |  Thu Feb 23, 2006 6:11 am  quoteTracker Are you familiar with this.?http://www.patriotamerica.com/JackMcLamb/index.htm-----"The police are not here to create disorder.The police are here to preserve disorder." Mayor Richard Daley                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|                          |                                                                                          |  profile                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

|                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Tracker Joined: 21 Feb 2006Posts: 29 | P&amp;MANWOFri Feb 24, 2006 1:26 amquote increase 1776, Yes, I am familiar with the P&amp;MANWO association as well as others like it across the country, you would be amazed at the number of state and local departments that have many members involved in such organizations as this. I can not speak for all those who work in law enforcement but I have met and known many who are very skeptical of our governments motives and agenda's as we know that they have lied repeatedly, not just to the general public but to inter-agencies and in so doing that has caused much decent between judicial political entities and those of us who deal with the reality of daily law enforcement at the local, state and federal levels and I can tell you without doubt that there is a huge divide between politicians and we the people. I do not usually speak outside of my own circle as it were but I am personally angered by the ongoing cover-up of this spraying issue that is going on which I have been observing now for a number of years, I know that it's going on because I have been told as much by a good friend who was a high ranking military officer, now retired. I really do not want to express more than that at this time as I made a promise not to involve my friend, suffice to say I know that this spraying is going on and because of it the public is at high risk but the general consensus among the decision makers is that the risk is worth the projected benefit if the project works. As to just what project I am referring, I have been told that there are two basic priorities with the spraying, weather control on a worldwide basis and secondly the weather control leading to a direct decrease in the effects of global warming over a twenty year period, we are presently at year 9 of the project as it started in earnest in the spring of 1997, I believe this as that is when people, myself included started noticing the change in the jet contrail's. At this I would like to stop here and let what I have said be absorbed, it is hard for people to believe that there government would do something so rash that would put them in harms way but the reality is that your government does that each and every day, current events prove this point quite well and as time goes by it will become more evident if the people of this country do not take control of the government soon. Tracker |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                                                                 | profile                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                                                                 | Tracker Joined: 21 Feb 2006Posts: 29                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Reynolds is a Narcissistic Personality [NPD]Wed Mar 01, 2006 2:18 amquote Who do we know around the internet that can be said is a textbook classic example of someone that exhibits, [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder? Anyone who has seen the writings and post on boards, forums and his various websites that he has had knows that John J. Reynolds, alias, Jay Reynolds fits into the category of an individual with [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder. |

If you are familiar with Reynolds work, if one can call it that, please read the following information on [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder and see if you do not agree that the description[s] of [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder clearly define Reynolds mental as well as physical characteristics in how he has presented himself via the internet.

Narcissistic Personality Disorder
[NPD]

*****

A narcissistic individual exhibits a pattern of grandiosity, excessive need for admiration, entitlement, and lack of empathy are the chief components in the diagnosis of NPD. These behaviors begin in early adulthood. A narcissistic individual is unable to trust others but relies on others to be a mirror which reflects back to him his unrealistic perception of his accomplishments, brilliance, talent, and beauty. A narcissistic individual has a fragile sense of self. To strengthen his sense of self he depends on other's admiration and constant attention. He expects other's to covet his possessions and he is constantly seeking compliments. Thus the narcissist develops numerous, shallow relationships to extract tributes from others.

Because a narcissistic individual has a shifting morality--always ready to shift values to gain favor--any interaction with a narcissist is difficult. Narcissists are self-absorbed and have no interest in anyone other than themselves. Their tendency is to form friendships or romantic relationships with only those that can enhance their self-esteem or advance their purposes.

A narcissistic individual has a basic sense of inferiority although if you listen to him talk you would never realize it. A narcissist presents a false self to the world. Under his inferiority is a preoccupation with fantasies of outstanding achievement, ideal love, and an aimless orientation toward superficial interests. The narcissist uses others to aid him in any tasks he undertakes and will frequently take credit for work which others have done. The narcissistic individual may be more successful at his chosen field of work than some of the other personality disorders. This is because his work can be advantageous to the narcissist especially if it provides narcissistic supply.

Lying is an integral part of the narcissist's behavior and all their self-reports are unreliable. His cognition is impaired to the extent that he frequently misinterprets other's speech, actions, and thoughts. He may believe that someone respects or loves him although this is a fantasy which exists only in the mind of the narcissist.

Narcissists will over inflate their own accomplishments, are boastful, and pretentious. They frequently will compare themselves to people of great accomplishments and are surprised when others do not agree with them. In fact, it is not unusual for the narcissist to compare himself with God.

Although he may attempt to impress others with knowledge and decisiveness, a narcissistic person's information base is often limited to trivia. His ideas are seldom original. He chooses to quote whoever he feels at the time is an authority, however, the narcissist's quotations may not be accurate as to what the chosen authority meant. The narcissist makes his own interpretations to best suit his whim. People other than the narcissist may wonder why he picked that individual as an authority since no true validation may exist the individual is an authority.

He also feels that people of high status can only understand him and he often assigns special, gifted, or unique qualities to the people with whom he associates. He will insist that he has the best doctor, lawyer, etc., available, and will assign non-factual accomplishments to that individual to prove the validity of his claims.

A narcissistic individual displays beliefs and behaviors that indicate a sense of 'specialness' or 'uniqueness.' He expects favorable treatment from others and wants automatic compliance with his requests. For instance he does not feel he should be made to wait in line and expects to be the center of attention. He is mystified when he does not get what he wants. If an individual disappoints him then he will devalue that person.

A narcissist demonstrates a lack of empathy towards others and this causes him to treat others like objects. He does not see others as human beings, but sees them as objects that have no feelings or needs. His sense of entitlement leads to his exploitation of others and this results in little guilt or remorse.

A narcissistic injury occurs when someone defeats or criticizes the narcissistic individual. The narcissist may not show it outwardly, but he is haunted by criticisms and defeats. Therefore, the narcissist does have emotions. The narcissist, however, does not relate to his emotions as others do because he represses his emotions so deeply that they play no conscious role in his behavior. But, these repressed emotions unconsciously play a large part in determining his behavior. When a narcissistic injury occurs, the narcissist begins to feel empty, degraded, and humiliated and he is capable of retaliating with narcissistic rage. His reactions constitute disdain or defiant attacks.

Characteristics of Narcissistic Personality Disorder

A pattern of grandiosity, need for admiration, and lack of empathy which begins by early adulthood and is present in differing contexts within a person's life.

A narcissistic individual is grandiose in their sense of self-importance and exaggerates their achievements and talents. He expects to be recognized as superior without achieving any great accomplishments.

A narcissistic individual is preoccupied with fantasies of his brilliance as well as his unlimited success or power. He fantasizes about beauty or ideal love.

A narcissistic individual believes that he is "special" or "unique." He feels that he can only be understood by or should associate with other special or high status people.

A narcissistic individual requires excessive admiration and is on a constant search for admiration.

A narcissistic individual has a sense of entitlement. He has unreasonable expectations of favorable treatment and expect others to automatically comply with his wishes.

A narcissistic individual takes advantage of others to achieve his own ends and uses others without regards to the feelings of others.

A narcissistic individual lacks empathy and does not identify with the

|                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | feelings or needs of others. A narcissstic individual is envious of others and believes that others are envious of him. A narcissistic individual shows arrogant or haughty behaviors or attitudes and does not care who he offends.  I rest my case in the belief that John Reynolds / Jay Reynolds [One in the same] is an individual that exemplifies [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder, It should also be noted that statistics on criminal behavior point out that a high percentage of narcissistic individuals are substance abusers, often resorting to the use of drugs such as cocaine and Amphetamines which only aids in advancing the symptoms of their [NPD]Narcissistic Personality Disorder. In profiling individuals who exhibit [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder law enforcement agencies list these individuals if known, as having a high risk and propensity to violence when confronted by authorities and are classified and flagged [D/O] danger to officer[s] in extreme cases. I hope this information helps in the understanding of just who and what John Reynolds /Jay Reynolds is and why he acts as he does, in many aspects he can not help himself but then that does not help those that are forced to endure his [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder. "Who said there's never a cop around when you need one" -----Tracker |
|                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  profile                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| TrackerJoined: 21 Feb 2006Posts: 29 | Reynolds proves who and what he is.  Thu Mar 02, 2006 5:59 am  quoteIf one goes back in time and reads the words of one "Jay Reynolds" posted at Chemtrail Central on 10 / 30 / 02 at the bottom of this page,...&gt;http://www.chemtrailcentral.com/ubb/Forum1/HTML/000098.htmlIt becomes very obvious that Reynolds is lying when he states so emphatically that his name is not "Jonh J. Reynolds" in the following post on 2 / 26 / 06 at,...&gt;http://p090.ezboard.com/fcontrailsandchemtrails22884frm1.showMessageRange?topicID=4295.topic&amp;start=41&amp;stop=60By Reynolds own words posted at Chemtrail Central back in 2000 he states that, "I was born John Boyd Reynolds, Jr." !This should put and end once and for all to any question of just who "Jay Reynolds / John J.Reynolds" is as they are one in the same person as my research on him has now absolutely proven.Can anyone have the slightest doubt that this internet troll Reynolds is not a liar, by his own words he admits as much.With regard to my prior post about Reynolds having a text case of [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder, this disorder is quite evident in reading |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

Reynolds 2 / 26 / 06 "ezboard" post as he is feebly trying to affix blame for my research on him and the subsequent release of that research to a "Louis Aubuchont" who posted on Chemtrail Central until recently, I can only apologize for any Rantings by Reynolds that I may have brought about that in any way slander Mr. Aubuchont and I can state that I do not now nor have I ever known or communicated with Mr. Aubuchont in any manner in my research on Reynolds, unfortunately when individuals with [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder feel threatened they tend to lash out and transfer their fears as anger to those who they most recently have had a conflict with, in this case it would appear to have been Mr. Aubuchont whom Reynolds had a conflict with and through no fault of his own Mr. Aubuchont has become the target of Reynolds rage and anger and I am truly sorry for this.

Please read the following Chemtrail Central post by "Jay Reynolds", the man proves that he is a liar and con-artist by his own admission.

JayReynolds posted 10-30-2000 02:03 PM
unregistered

I received a Bachelor of Science degree in Marine Engineering from Texas A&M University in 1977. I was born John Boyd Reynolds, Jr., and called Jay since birth.

This can be verified by contacting the records department
<http://www.tamu.edu/admissions/records/records.html>
Student Records
Heaton Hall, Room 112
Telephone (979) 845-1003
Fax (979) 845-0727

Anyone wishing to move forward in history to confirm my whereabouts 1979-1992 could contact The Honorable Arthur C. Petersen, Jr., Ph.D. - Commissioner of Agriculture of the United States Virgin Islands: <http://www.gov.vi/agri/>

Anyone wishing to confirm my current position as Central Bureau Chief with Veritas News Service can contact William Cooper, Publisher: <http://williamcooper.com>

Anyone wishing more personal information about me should prepare to share with me an equal amount of their own as well, which I can and will verify.

How's that for full disclosure, anonymous name callers?

Jay Reynolds

P.S: I forgot another of xxxxxx's hoaxes, he created one called the "aerosol Pilot",with a supposed recording of a radio transmission:
<http://www.cyberspaceorbit.com/text/spay08x.htm>

-----
"Who said there's never a cop around when you need one"

-----
Tracker

|                                                                                                                                                  |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Tracker                                                                                                                                   |  | Error, on my part, correction.  Thu Mar 02, 2006 6:20 am  quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Joined: 21 Feb 2006Posts: 29                                                                                                                 |  | I'm afraid that I have to make a correction in my post here on "Jay Reynolds / John Reynolds" that being that I have at times referred to him as "John J. Reynolds" and this is an error on my part, I was using his "Jay" alias name as a middle initial when in fact I should have been using a "B" for "John Boyd Reynolds Jr.", my apologizes for that, all of the J's get a bit confusing at times. -----Tracker                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                                                                                                                                                  |  |  profile                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Orwell knew                                                                                                                               |  |  Fri Mar 03, 2006 3:11 am  quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Joined: 21 May 2004Posts: 475Location: Mid-Missouri |  | Interesting.I remember interacting with J. over at Arianna Huffington's website concerning "chemtrails"/ atmospheric modification, and him being quite obnoxious. overbearing, and definately IMO disingenous. I honesly think he knows full well about the aerosol releases, but perhaps as your data possibly suggests, maybe he simply became a shill as a result of a penance of (forced) "community service". SmT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|                                                                                                                                                  |  |  profile                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| halva                                                                                                                                     |  |  Fri Mar 03, 2006 6:36 pm  quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Joined: 04 Apr 2003Posts: 515Location: Greece                                                                                            |  | I would be surprised to discover that Reynolds' behaviour is motivated by anything outside himself. It has always seemed to me that he is driven by ego, in conjunction with total indifference to what is true and what is untrue.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                                                                                                                                                  |  |  profile  home                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Tracker                                                                                                                                   |  | Interacting with Reynolds.  Fri Mar 03, 2006 6:57 pm  quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Joined: 21 Feb 2006Posts: 29                                                                                                                 |  | Orwell Knew, Interesting.I remember interacting with J. over at Arianna Huffington's website concerning "chemtrails"/ atmospheric modification, and him being quite obnoxious. overbearing, and definately IMO disingenous. I honesly think he knows full well about the aerosol releases, but perhaps as your data possibly suggests, maybe he simply became a shill as a result of a penance of (forced) "community service". SmT ----- Just a quick response as I am pressed for time today. Your experience with Reynolds seems to be the common thread among those who have tried to interact with him, he will start off by seeming to be genuinely interested in what you have to say but quickly the tone of the debate |

|                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                            | will degrade into a one sided editorial on Reynolds part as he tries to push the other party aside and dominate the subject matter, if he is interrupted or becomes annoyed he will resort to angry outburst of an insulting nature, like an adolescent child might do or someone with [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder. I have read accounts from many individuals that relate having been verbally assaulted or their being personally attacked by Reynolds to the point that he has gone out of his way to find person[s] private telephone / unlisted number[s] and actually start calling these people imposing himself into their lives and harassing them simply because they may have written an article or were interview on a radio program with regard to the Chemtrail issue and Reynolds does not agree with what these people have had to say. Most of us, people in general, do not like everything that we hear from others but we do not usually react by hunting these people down [ Stalking them ] and forcing them to endure our conceptions of whatever the subject in question may be, this is where Reynolds steps over the line of common sense and common decency scrumming to his [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder. Whether or not Reynolds is actually working for an agency like the DOD / Pentagon really is unclear at this time, on the face of his actions he may very well be working for such an entity but there may be many factors involved as to what motivates his actions, hopefully more research will uncover the truth. I will have to leave this here for now, duty calls. -----Tracker |
|                                                                                            |  profile                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| TrackerJoined: 21 Feb 2006Posts: 29 | More than ego I think.  Fri Mar 03, 2006 11:12 pm  quotehalva"I would be surprised to discover that Reynolds' behaviour is motivated by anything outside himself. It has always seemed to me that he is driven by ego, in conjunction with total indifference to what is true and what is untrue."-----halva,I was not trying to ignore your post earlier, I just had no time to reply, my apologies.In my line of work I have learned never to underestimate the motivation that drives an individuals behavior, while the motivation may appear to be obvious, there can be and most always are other motivating factors with regard to patently bad behavior such as Reynolds constantly exhibits, that is why I posted the profile on [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder as I feel that Reynolds patented behavior exemplifies the characteristics of this mental disorder.Certainly ego plays an important part in his behavior but you must see that it is more than ego which supports his actions, there is that pattern of grandiosity, the precipitation of his own self brilliance as well as his boast of unlimited success or power, he requires excessive admiration and is on a constant search for admiration, all of this and more point directly to him having the mental disorder [NPD]                                                                                                        |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                           | Narcissistic Personality Disorder which he feeds constantly via the use of the internet as it no doubt gives him a feeling of power and superiority over others, at least the people who unwittingly engage with him as he feels that he is more intelligent than anyone else around him, I would like to believe that most people, especially professionals choose not to actively engage him and feed his mental disorder,.i.e. you do not see people such as Will Thomas or Richard Carnicom entering into the endless non-productive forums and boards to debate debunkers like Reynolds, it's a moot point for them as they have far better things to do. I am sure that Reynolds by now is raving on some forum or board that I should face him in a one on one debate about what I have posted on him to date but obviously I am not going to do that and it will make him absolutely insane that he does not control the situation [ did I mention that those with [NPD] are control freaks], he will rant and rave but to no avail, I will not feed his [NPD] mental disorder. _____ Tracker |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                           | profile ⚡                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Orwell knewJoined: 21 May 2004Posts: 475Location: Mid-Missouri | Sat Mar 04, 2006 2:11 amquote                            | So Tracker, you have actively been involved in law enforcement,? that's great, I would be quite happy to hear the perspectives of someone from that angle as to many of the things that have been and may soon be occurring. J Reynolds is perhaps interesting somewhat for at least a couple of interchanges, but having arlready done that and seen where IMO he is coming from, find it the ole 'casting pearls' scenario a waste of time unless one simply wants to have a bit of fun, or inversely enjoys abuse. The only possible good I can see to answering Reynolds past a few posts, (which I stopped once I found out what he was) is simply that when one Debunks the de- bunkers it perhaps might provide some info for those other seekers who happen to stumble upon it. Other than that obviously it's just entertainment for the sake of entertainment. SmT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                           | profile ⚡                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| TrackerJoined: 21 Feb 2006Posts: 29                                                                                                                                    | Bound by policy &amp; law. Sat Mar 04, 2006 3:34 amquote | Orwell Knew, So Tracker, you have actively been involved in law enforcement,? that's great, I would be quite happy to hear the perspectives of someone from that angle as to many of the things that have been and may soon be occurring. J Reynolds is perhaps interesting somewhat for at least a couple of interchanges, but having arlready done that and seen where IMO he is coming from, find it the ole 'casting pearls' scenario a waste of time unless one simply wants to have a bit of fun, or inversely enjoys abuse. The only possible good I can see to answering Reynolds past a few posts, (which I stopped once I found out what he was) is simply that when one Debunks the de- bunkers it perhaps might provide some info for those other seekers who happen to                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|  |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|--|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  |                                                                                                                                                                                                       | stumble upon it. Other than that obviously it's just entertainment for the sake of entertainment. SmT <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|  |                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Smt, "So Tracker, you have actively been involved in law enforcement,?" Yes, I have but do not equate that to me being dressed in blue riding around the streets in a black and white, that is not me and I do not care to elaborate on just what it is that I do with regard to law enforcement, in fact I am bound by policy and law not to disclose that information, hope that you can understand why, I have no choice. I agree with your sentiments regarding Jay Reynolds / John B. Reynolds,Jr. but I do have my reasons for doing this and believe me it is not for any form of entertainment. I can not relate anything to you that you have not probably already heard about and know or suspect, "the country is in the hands of some crazy ass people," if I may quote a Jimmy Buffett tune and they are taking us right to hell on the fast track, you do not need me to confirm this for you as you already know what I'm talking about. I have to take a land line call, all for now. <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|  |                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Tracker                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|  |  profile  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|  | TrackerJoined: 21 Feb 2006Posts: 29                                                                                                       | Jay Boyd Reynolds is so very predictable !   Sat Mar 04, 2006 5:06 am  quoteIt seems that I was quite right about Jay Reynolds / John Boyd Reynolds,Jr., Uncle Jay Jay, Jay or whatever name he is going by today, he's so very predictable, the [NPD] Narcissistic Personality Disorder seems to be thriving in Jay Boyd Reynolds in this post at Arianna Huffingtons,....http://www.ariannaonline.com/forums/showthread.php?t=34301&amp;page=21&amp;pp=10jayreynoldsIsn't it interesting that these anonymous people will go to great lengths to invent lies about me, while hiding at a forum in which I can't respond?What is wrong with using an anonymous posting name in a forum, DUH, how many people do you think do that Jay Boyd, I guess they all better just start using their given names ?Nice catch, Boomer, noticing that this chemmie doesnt even make an attempt to show any proof whatsoever for the "chemtrails" hoax, yet spends a whole thread on me!It's almost like they realize it's a lost cause..... |

Gee, Jay Boyd, I am writing these post in the "Freeform" section of Chemtrail Central, not the Chemtrail section, I think Jay Boyd is confused.

I have seen and heard enough proof of a spraying operation over the past years to convince me that it is very real, I believe that and I'm not here to debate that issue, got that Jay Boyd ?

-----

-

I can debunk all of what "Tracker" claims about me, but 'Tracker' is far to cowardly to take me on..

-----

Yes Jay boyd can debunk anything, he has proven that without question as well as proving that he has the biggest mouth on the internet, without question !

-----

-

I challenge 'Tracker' to come here where we can have an open and honest debate about this.

-----

-

Now Jay Boyd, do you really think I am going to waste my time butting heads with you at some Right Wing forum, take you medication Jay Boyd !

-----

-

However, based on what I have learned about chemmies, "Tracker" will remain a coward hiding behind an alias, while making up lie after lie. If "Tracker" has any spine whatsoever, and the debate takes place, 'Tracker' will be exposed by the facts and revealed as the liar he really is.

-----

--

Really Jay Boyd, calm down, take some deep breaths and take your medication, you know how you get if you don't !

-----

--

"Tracker"?

Got guts?

Or will you remain a pitiful spineless jellyfish?

Bring it on!

-----

Bring it on, Hmm, didn't another Right Wing Moron recently say,"Bring It On", look what that got us, a friggen unnecessary war with a lot of unnecessary deaths on both sides, "Bring It On indeed", good one Jay Boyd.

-----

And check your email.....

-----

Ah, I think he has lost it,..."And check your email".....What e-mail would that be Jay Boyd, did you send someone an e-mail thinking that it was me, Ha, Ha, Ha, what are you thinking, are you that paranoid, what is your malfunction, whoever got your e-mail must think your an idiot, well, on second thought, maybe their right about that, I would pay money to see the look on your face right now ?

-----

Contrails, or 'Trails-CON?

A website reviewing the facts and the claims about the Contrails/Chemtrails controversy

by Jay Reynolds

<http://goodsky.homestead.com/files/>

-----

Tracker

profile ⚡

NEW TOPIC POST REPLY

Forum Jump:

Jump to:

Goto page

1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 Next

All times are GMT. The time now is Wed Jan 04, 2017 10:16 pm

Display posts from previous:

© 21st Century Thermonuclear Productions
All Rights Reserved, All Wrongs Revenged, Novus Ordo Seclorum, All Your Base